PROPOSALS
For Publishing, by Subscription,
THE COMPLETE WORKS OF
SIR WALTER SCOTT:
With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminons and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 27, 1833.

From the New York Gazette.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By the Britannia, Capt. Sketchley, the Editors of the Gazette have received their London papers to the 15th and Liverpool papers to the 16th ult., two days later than former advices, but they contain very little of interest.

The Petersburgh Gazette contains a letter from Count Orliff to the Reis Effendi, and the answer of the latter respecting the departure of the Russian Auxilliary forces from the Bosphorus. They are only interesting as an official confirmation of previous accounts of the good understanding between the two Powers.

A letter, says a London paper, has been received from Gen. Saldanha, stating that two French regiments had refused to fight in the attack upon Oporto, assigning for cause that they had been ill treated after the departure of Gen. Solignac.

A Deputation from the West India Interest, including Mr. Burge, the Agent for Jamaica, Sir Alexander Grant, Messrs. Bright and Philpotts, had an interview with Mr. Secretary Stanley on the 13th instant at the Colonial office. Mr. Stanley was accompanied by two of his colleagues, the Duke of Richmond and the Earl of Ripon. The conference lasted upwards of two hours.

In the House of Lords last night, (Aug. 12) the Earl of Ripon moved the second reading of the Slavery Abolition Bill, which was opposed by Lord Belmore, the Duke of Wellington, Lord Wynford, the Earl of Harrowby, and Lord St. Vincent, who contended that it was an unnecessary interference with the Colonial legislatures, and that the plan of emancipation proposed would not secure to the master the efficient labor of their negro apprentices, and would prove prejudicial to the interests of the negroes themselves. The measure was defended by the Earl of Ripon, Earl Grey, Lord Suffield, the Lord Chancellor, and Lord Clifford, on the ground that the abolition of slavery was a question that could not be longer delayed, and that the mode proposed of effecting that object was calculated to prepare the slaves for a state of freedom, and would, at the same time, protect the interests of the planters.—The Bill was then read a second time without a division and will be committed on Wednesday.

Latest news from Lisbon and Oporto.

Falmouth, Aug. 13, 1833.—The Corsair yacht arrived here this morning, from Lisbon, which place she left on the first inst. The following news will be interesting, and will show the state of the public mind in the city. Don Pedro was publicly walking about with the greatest confidence, unarmed and unguarded, and was greeted with the warmest acclamations. A circumstance occurred on his first landing which at once made him popular with the people. When he was stepping from the barge on shore, some of the police endeavored to clear the way with their swords, when he called on them to put up their weapons, and taking out his own sword flung it into the sea. About 800 police or militia had been raised for the protection of the city. The behavior of all classes was beyond all praise.

The conduct of Don Miguel's police had excited a great sensation at Lisbon. It appears that the Duc Cadavel, with about 3,000 police, after they had fled from Lisbon, retreated to Caldras, about 25 miles north of Lisbon, and sacked the place for four hours, committing the greatest depredations on the persons and property of the inhabitants.—On the 31st of July they were on the road to Luceria.

A division of Don Miguel's troops, about 1,500, had forded the Tagus, at Valoda, near Santerim, and a steamer was sent up by Don Pedro to negotiate with them. It was generally supposed that they would turn in favor of the young Queen.

The Corsair called off Oporto on the 5th, but nothing of importance had occurred since our last advices. The Miguelites, however, continued to harrass the city, by continually firing on the town, and at all the boats which came within the range of their guns. At Oporto they were anxiously expecting that the lines of Don Miguel would be broken by troops from Lisbon. No movement had taken place at Lisbon for that purpose, and, in the present state of affairs, it does not appear likely that a sufficient force could be collected by Don Pedro. The contending forces at Oporto must, therefore, fight it out.

The Donna Maria was cruizing off Oporto.

Portugal.—The accounts received at Paris, on the 15th, (after a long dearth of news) through Madrid and London, were contradictory. It is said in some papers that Molellos had been captured, and by others that he was on the forward march in Algarves, and had shut up the Pedroites in Faro. Cadval, says one story, is almost ruined, Bourmont wounded, and Miguel missing; while another represents Bourmont was sending troops againt Lisbon, strengthening the fortresses, and in possescion of an excellent position between Oporto and Lisbon.

An arrival at Plymouth brought news, that M. Harbor, who sailed from England in the Pike, had touched at Oporto, and obtained permission to see Miguel; and that hostilities had ceased.

A Paris paper, however, says the following facts are well ascertained.

1st. That Don Pedro was at Lisbon on the 31st of July, and that Palmella, before his arrival on the 24th had issued a proclamation in favor the Constitutional Charter.

2d. That Don Miguel's position was uncertain; some saying he was at Braga, others that he was at Leira; but he had not left Portugal.

3d. Oporto had not been attacked since the 26th.

A Paris paper of the 15th August says—A report has been about to day, since the close of 'Change, of a notification from Russia and Austria, touching important points of European policy, which tends to produce a complete rupture between France and England and the other powers—nothing certain was known about it.

One of Miguel's 20 gun corvettes was captured by the steamboat William IV., during the affair off the cape, by merely throwing hot water among the crew. The men all refused to defend her, and she was taken possession of.

The Queen, it is said, insists on a change of ministry, and is backed by the French and English plenipotentiaries, who urge that the Ministers who opposed Stratford Canning's plans shall be dismissed. The King was hesitating.

A small English brigade had landed at Lisbon, to preserve order, with the approbation of the Spanish Cabinet.

It was believed that Count Ofalia would succeed M. Zea in the Spanish Ministry, Armarillas to be Minister of War, F. del Pico, of Justice, Arjona, for the Interior, and Gaspar Remissa, for Finances.

Basle was to be reoccupied on the 11th August, the Diet not being satisfied with the report of their committee sent into the Canton, and a new commissioner had been appointed, to act with greater energy. The people of Basle, on their part, it is said, demanded a foreign intervention. Austria had already moved, and it was stated that Baden and Wirtemberg had also sent on troops towards the frontiers of Switzerland.

The members of the Conference of Saarnem, before departing, signed a protest against the acts of the General Diet, recommending their country to the care of the Almighty.

London, Aug. 14.—In the House of Lords, last night, the Sugar Refining Bill, and the Separatists' Affirmation Bill, severally went through committee, and the reports were ordered to be received this day.

After two able and perspicuous speeches of the Lord Chancellor, the Scotch Burgess Bill was read a second time, and ordered to be committed on Thursday. The English corporations are many of them corrupt, and require severe revision and reform; but the Scotch burghs were corruption itself. The object of the bill is excellent; our only fear is, that the evil is too deeply seated to be eradicated; but the principle of the remedy is a good one; it substitutes a sound for a rotten constituency, and there is a just chance that a wholesome regeneration of the system may be the result.

On the motion of the Marquis of Lansdowne, the third reading of the East India Charter Bill was postponed till Friday.

In the House of Commons, during the early sitting, the Factories' Regulation Bill was considered in committee, and the committee sat again in the evening, when all the clauses were agreed to, and the report was ordered to be received this day.

The House having resolved itself into committee on the Land Revenue Acts, a resolution was agreed to, on the motion of Lord Duncannon, that 55,000l. be granted out of the hereditary land revenue of the Crown, towards the completion of Buckingham Palace.

In committee on the Sale of Beer Act, the following resolution was agreed to:—"That for every license to be granted to any person to sell beer, or ale, or porter, by retail, in any part of Great Britain, shall be paid the sum of 5*l.*; and for every license to be granted to any person to sell cider by retail in any part of Great Britain, shall be paid the sum of 50s. in lieu of the present duties payable there."

New Orleans, Sept. 9.

LATE FROM MEXICO.

The schooner General Lafayette, which arrived yesterday from Tampico, has brought us files of papers to the 30th ult.

Tranquillity had not yet been established. The cholera has been making the most dreadful havoc among the armies of the rebels, as well as those of the President. Duran, the worthy associate of Arista, has succombed to the scourge. General Mejia had likewise been attacked, but the last accounts state that he was recovering.

Letters from the capital, to the 6th ult., state that, on the entrance of Duran into Celaya, nine men of a piquet of cavalry fell dead of cholera in descending from their horses.

Canalizo commits all kinds of robbery and assassination in the state of Oajaca.

Arista has taken and pillaged Guanajuato. The ravages of the cholera has daily thinned the ranks of his army, and the dread which that disease has produced, occasions the desertion of great numbers who seek for security in all quarters. It may hence be inferred that Santa Anna will soon be entirely victorious over those hordes of brigands.

The State of San Luis had passed a decree, awarding death to any individual who holds any intercourse with a rebel, or who seeks to disturb the tranquillity of the general government, either by words, actions, or writings.

According to an official document from General Victoria, dated Puebla, 30th July, it appears that a corps of 100 horsemen under the command of the rebels Serano and Soto were completely routed near the village of St. Salvador and St. Martin.

The Vice President, in pursuance of the extraordinary powers by which he has been vested by Congress, has just closed up to foreign commerce, for six months, the ports of Pueblo, Viejo de Tampico and Soto de la Marina. The decree which, ordains the measure, bears date on the 31st July.

The head quarters of the commander in chief were, on the 10th ult., at Queretaro. By a proclamation of that date, one may judge of the ravages which the cholera has made in the constitutional army. The President learning that the rebels, Arista and Duran, with their army, were marching towards San Miguel de Allende on the Guanajuato, had given orders to the commandant general of that city to fortify it, and to try and detain the enemy for one or two days, when he would come to his assistance. Accordingly, he immediately put himself and his forces in motion; on the first day, having arrived at the village of Apasco, the epidemic made its appearance, and to such a degree did it rage, that the next morning, when the troops were about to continue their march, it was discovered that 200 men had fallen victims. The second day the disease considerably increased, and continued augmenting in its fatality until the fifth day, when it was found that 2,000 men, out of the force of upwards of 4,000, were sick, dying, or dead. The bulletin addressed to the minister of war, from whence the above information is gathered, is calculated to excite terror. Santa Anna, despising all obstacles, however, pursued his marches with rapidity, to arrive in time at Guanajuato. Having learnt, when within a few miles of the place, that Valentin Gomez, the commandant, from a want of forces, perhaps, to resist the rebels, had made his escape towards the coast of the city of Leon, where Duran seemed disposed to follow him, he would have attacked the forces of Arista from the entrance of the city, had not various obstacles prevented it. Moreover, Arista's forces were well situated behind a strong fortification, while the President's troops were fatigued with forced marches, and dispirited by sickness, and dying almost of hunger.

The day following, the camp of St. Anna was horrible to be seen; the dead and the dying were strewn all around. Officers and soldiers had fallen indiscriminately victims. Nothing was sought after but remedies, aliments, and ligaments, things very difficult to be found.

Notwithstanding, however, the adventitious circumstances in which St. Anna found himself placed, he resolved, upon hearing that Duran was on his return to Silao, to go and attack him. He accordingly formed a column of 800 infantry, and put them in motion in the evening. But a heavy rain having fallen, the roads were so bad that he was delayed for a considerable time from pursuing his journey, and finally gave it up, when within two leagues of Silao, despairing of surprizing the enemy. During this one march, 150 men died.

On the return of Santa Anna to his camp, and after having consulted his state major, he determined to take up his head quarters at Queretaro, and to suspend all kinds of warlike operations until the epidemic ceased. His total loss is estimated at above 2,900 men.

The cholera had been, on the 5th ult., twenty three days in Zacatecas, prevailing with its usual violence.

The Gaceta de Tampico, which has been increased in size, contains in its three last numbers the constitution of Texas. A remarkable circumstance, and one that shows that the Anglo American population much exceeds that of the Hispano American, is the fact that that document is drawn in English, and that William H. Wharton and Thomas Hastings, the first President, and the latter Secretary of the Convention that adopted it, are natives of the United States.

Pickling old Pork.—Married, at Liberty Town, Ill., Sewell N. Pickle, Esq., aged 18, to Miss Clarissa Maria Pork, aged 76.

Internal Improvements in the South.—Every Southern State has recently made strong movements, on this important subject. In South Carolina, their rail road has been prosecuted and completed with zeal in the highest degree creditable, and with results the most encouraging. In Virginia, the efforts to complete the subscriptions necessary to make the James River improvement are unremitting, and the prospect of success appears to brighten. In Georgia and North Carolina, the public feeling is awakened, and active exertions are in progress to fix public opinion upon the most desirable points and routs at which to concentrate their means.

In the last 'Georgian,' received at this office, sanguine calculations are made of the effect of some of the various schemes in progress, upon the prosperity of the State, and especially of the city of Savannah. One of the arguments in favor of the Augusta and Augusta and Athens rail road, is not a little striking, considering the general opinions heretofore held in the South generally, on the practicability of manufacturing there, so as to compete with the Eastern manufacturers. Clark county, it is said, is becoming a manufacturing county, and the demand is already greater than can be suppled for home consumption. At present, the cost of transportation to the sea board is so great, that exports could not be made, but it is contended that if an easy and expeditious mode of communication could be provided, manufactures could be profitably extended, and 'from the superior cheapness of the raw material and labor,' they would soon 'supersede the northern manufacturers in a southern market.' It is earnestly to be desired that the experiment be fairly made; and, judging from the fact that an 'extensive factory has just been erected at Athens, another a few miles from it, and $200,000 more are shortly to be invested,' the right spirit of enterprize is at work.

The people of Savannah are deeply interested in opening a communication between their city and Augusta, in order that the trade of the upper counties of Georgia, in which these efforts are made, should not be diverted to Charleston by the rail road. For this purpose, a rail road is proposed to connect Augusta with the head of low water navigation of the Savannah, which is navigable for nearly 500 miles. It is added, that a communication between Columbus and New Echota, where the Blue Ridge can be crossed at the lowest point in its whole range,—having an elevation of less than 60 feet,—would ensure to Savannah the whole trade of East Tennessee, in preference to any other port.—Balt. Amer.

NOVEL AND SINGULAR OCCURRENCE.

From a friend lately returned from Cincinnati, we have learned the following particulars, of, perhaps, one of the most remarkable occurrences that ever took place in this country. One of the clerks in a large wholesale establishment, in Cincinnati, was awakened at night by a noise in the upper story, and proceeded to ascertain the cause. There was an open hatchway from the garret to the cellar, and down this he heard something fall. Supposing that some goods had been thrown down, he awoke a companion, and they watched the premises so that no one went out until morning, when the cellar was examined, and the body of a man found quite dead, and very much disfigured: he was armed with a knife and pistols, and disguised in a wig and false whiskers. Depending from the hatchway, in the third or fourth story, was a cord, fastened by a hook, from which the thief had evidently fallen in the attempt to descend.

The man was buried; but the next day the Mayor ordered him to be taken up and publicly exposed, in hopes that some one would recognize him, and perhaps lead to the detection of accomplices. He was accordingly laid in an engine house for that purpose, but his face had been so much disfigured by the fall, that the police despaired of having him recognized, until a gentleman stopped to look at the body, who said that he believed he recognized him, but was unwilling to communicate his suspicions until he had ascertained whether or not the object of them was absent from home.—He accordingly proceeded to the house of one of the most wealthy and respectable wholesale merchants in the city, and finding that he was absent, and the family unable or unwilling to give an account of him, he openly avowed his belief that the deceased was no other than Mr. J——.

General consternation followed this avowal, for Mr. J. was a man of high standing and respectability, having an intelligent and well educated family, and possessed of a fortune valued at not less than $100,000. Some of the members of the family were brought to the body, and acknowledged the fact that it was the corpse of their parent. The house of the deceased was immediately taken possession of by the police, and was found to have been a perfect receptacle of stolen goods, possessed of every convenience for carrying on the trade. A range of stores, four stories high, had been owned and occupied by him, and were provided with vaults for the purposes of concealment, and with subterraneous passages, leading to other houses, over which no doubt he had the control. The stacks of chimneys had been converted into channels for the conveying goods in and out without exposure to the public eye. Goods were there found which had been stolen four years before, and some which could have been taken only the night before his death.

The young gentleman who first heard him, and caused his fall, it was said was engaged to one of the daughters, and both he and she have attempted to commit suicide since the unfortunate affair has taken place.—Easton Sentinel.

From the Christian Advocate & Journal.

ANECDOTES OF DR. RUSH.

On Preaching.—The Doctor once informed me, that when he was a young man, he had been invited on some occasion to dine in company with Robert Morris, Esq., a man celebrated for the part he took in the American Revolution. It so happened that the company had waited some time for Mr. Morris, who, on his appearance, apologised for detaining them, by saying that he had been engaged in reading a sermon of a clergyman who had just gone to England to receive orders. 'Well, Mr. Morris,' said the Doctor, 'how did you like the sermon?—I have heard it highly extolled.' 'Why, Doctor,' said he, I 'did not like it at all.—It's too smooth and tame for me.' 'Mr. Morris,' replied the Doctor, 'what sort of a sermon do you like?'—'I like sir, replied Mr. M., 'that kind of preaching which drives a man into the corner of his pew, and makes him think the devil is after him.'

I heard him reprove his medical class once for restlessness, during one of his lectures, by saying: 'Gentlemen, I fear I do not make you happy—the happy are always contented.' This gentle rebuke pleased me so well that after the lecture, I thanked him for it, observing that when occasion should offer, I would try the effect of it on my congregation. 'No,' said the Doctor, 'I hope you will not. It is no compliment to a minister of the Gospel to reprove his congregation for inattention. He should be able to keep their attention.' Adding that 'Dr. M.'s congregation were always attentive.'

Dr. Rush was perhaps one of the most untiring students that ever lived. Two young physicians were conversing in his presence once, and one of them said, "When I finished my studies—" "When you finish your studies!" said the Doctor abruptly, "Why you must be a happy man to have finished so young. I do not expect to finish mine while I live."

The writer once asked him how he had been able to collect such an immense amount of information and facts as his publication and lectures contained.

"I have been enabled to do it," replied he, by economising my time as Mr. Wesley did. I have not spent an hour in amusements for the last thirty years." And taking a small note book from his pocket, and showing it to me, he said "I fill such a book as this once in a week with observations and thoughts which occur to me, and facts collected in the rooms of my patients, and these are preserved and used."

Canada.—Rencontres between the people and the military have been frequent, of late, in Canada. The Montreal papers mention another riot which took place in that city, recently, in which the military were badly handled by a mob. The affair occurred at the time of the races on St. Pierre course. The soldiers had daily squabbles with the citizens for three days. The opposite parties charge the disturbance, each to its adversary, the Gazette and Courant laboring to show that there was "a conspiracy to satiate the deep rooted antipathy of the rabble" against British soldiers, and the Vindicator putting the whole blame upon the military. The presses favorable to the soldiery charge the crowd with pressing upon them, in many cases withdrawing their bayonets from the sheaths secretly, and maltreating them with clubs and planks torn from the booths, until a strong escort was provided by the commander to send them to their barracks safely. This was on the first day of the races, and, on the subsequent days, the soldiers only protected themselves by remaining together; every straggler was insulted and beaten.—No lives were lost, but one soldier was cruelly maimed. These riotings may be set down as signs of the times. The spirit of opposition to the foreign military is similar to that which prevailed in Boston, just previous to the revolution, and may be ominous of similar consequences.—Baltimore American.

Veto.—It is a remarkable fact, that although an absolute negative is vested in the King of England as a branch of legislative power, it has not been exercised since the year 1692—a period of one hundred and forty years. Judge Story, in his "Commentaries on the Constitution of the United States," says "this fact can only be accounted for upon one of two suppositions, either that the influence of the crown has prevented the passage of objectionable measures, or that the exercise of the prerogative has not been safe to exercise it, except upon the most pressing emergencies."—Poulson.

According to our advices from Washington, received yesterday evening, it was said there, upon authority deemed good, that Mr. Duane is forthwith to leave the Treasury Department, and Mr. Woodbury, or Mr. Taney, to be appointed his successor, pro tem and pro hac vice, we suppose.—Nat. Gaz., Sept. 23.

The Lexington Observer says—

"That Mr. Van Buren can be easily defeated by a cordial union among those who deprecate his election as a great evil, no one, at all acquainted with the state of parties in this country, can hesitate to believe. But to bring about that union, great discretion, forbearance, and patriotism are requisite." * * * * "When the time shall arrive for designating a candidate to oppose Mr. Van Buren, that citizen, among his opponents, we think, ought to be selected who can command the greatest amount of public support; and on him all other sections of the opposition, sacrificing at the shrine of our country all personal partialities, preferences, and antipathies, and animated by a true spirit of patriotism, should zealously rally."

Cotton Crop.—From all parts of the U. States, accounts of fine crops are reaching us, and the probability is that the whole crop of the U. States this year, will exceed that of any previous year by 1 or 200,000 bales.—Nashville Rep.

Camden and Amboy Rail Road.—The locomotive engines were attached to the cars of the ten o'clock line, to and from Philadelphia, on Saturday, and whirled six or seven of them over the road at a rate not less than thirty miles an hour. This is traveling fast enough for any body.

It appears that Avery has left Bristol, with his family, but it is not stated, nor, we believe, understood, for what destination. Mrs. Avery is said to be a most amiable woman, who has met with severe domestic afflictions. On this subject the Fall River Monitor says—

"She could a tale unfold that would make the Crocadile weep. She could tell of scenes at Lowell, of transactions at Bristol, and elsewhere, that would move the heart of a savage. But like a tender woman, who feels that her destiny is fixed, she suffers, and complains not. She has the sympathy of all who know her."

The dangerous consequences of extending the pardon of the executive to condemned criminals have seldom been more decidedly exhibited than in the conduct of Griffin, who, as we noticed a few days since, had been caught in an attempt to rob the store of Mr. Martin, in New York. Griffin had been convicted of murder, about three years ago, and sentenced to seven years' confinement in the state prison, but, about two months ago, he was pardoned out, and immediately proceeds to his trade of midnight plunder. This, however, is but one of many similar cases, which should be a salutary comment on the power of pardoning.—Philadelphia Chron., Sept. 23.

Pennsylvania Canals.—All the lines are at present navigable, and commerce upon them brisk.—Harrisburgh Chronicle, Sept. 24.

The New Bedford Mercury of Saturday, says: "We are indebted to the politeness of Captain Woods, of ship Zephyr, of this port, from the Indian Ocean, for the copy of the Singapore Chronicle of the 28th of March last. It contains an official order from S. S. Bonham, Resident Councillor at Singapore, abolishing the censorship of the press in that settlement, and informing the editor of the Chronicle that he may hereafter refrain from sending proof sheets to the office of the Supreme Government. The remarks of the editor in relation to the subject of the liberty of the press, and expressive of his gratitude to the government for having sanctioned the measure, would occupy too much space in our columns.—The political and commercial adviees are unimportant."

Yankee Pedlars and the Georgians.—Mr. Hamilton, in his 'Men and Manners in America,' has neither spared Yankee Pedlars nor the Georgians. Hear him.

"The whole race of Yankee pedlars, in particular, are proverbial for dishonesty. These go fort annually in thousands, to lie, cog, cheat, swindle, in short, to get possession of their neighbor's property, in any manner it can be done with impunity. Their ingenuity in deception is confessedly great. They warrant broken watches to be the best time-keepers in the world; sell pinchbeck trinkets for gold; and have always a large assortment of wooden nutmegs, and stagnant barometers. In this respect they resemble the Jews, of which race, by the by, I am assured, there is not a single specimen in New England. There is an old Scotch proverb, 'Corbies never pick out Corbies 'een."

* * * * * * *

"A journey through Georgia presents little to record. The inhabitants bear a bad character in other parts of the Union. They are, perhaps, a little savage and ferocious; and in regard to morals, one is tempted to regret that the gibbet is not abroad in Georgia, as well as the school master. From Fort Mitchell, I travelled with three attorneys, two store keepers, two cotton planters, and a slave dealer. My notions of the sort of conversation prevalent in Newgate may not be very accurate, but I much doubt whether it would be found to indicate such utter debasement, both of thought and principle as that to which I was condemned to listen during this journey.

"Georgia receives large accessions of population in the off scouring of other slave states. The restraints of law are little felt, and it is the only state in the Union in which I heard it asserted that justice is not purely administered. A Georgian with whom I conversed a great deal about his native state declared that, with plenty of money, he could with facility escape punishment for any offences, however heinous. In Georgia, he assured me there was really no danger to be apprehended from law by a gentleman with heavy pockets, who had his wits about him."

Two gentlemen named Laight and Few, after discussing at some length the merits of a certain distinguished individual, whom they had recently heard in the pulpit, concluded by regretting that such talents should be employed against Christianity. "Oh," said a third, "while Mr. ———'s auditors are late and few, we need be under no apprehension."

Post Office Delinquency.

ON the 19th of March last, I wrote a letter to Lewis Clapier, Esq. of Philadelphia, which I placed in the Post Office at Saegerstown on the same day, and by information lately received from Mr. Clapier, I find the letter has not reached him. Enclosed with the letter, in a strong envelop, was a patent for donation lot No. 6, containing three hundred acres of land, situate in the first district, now Beaver county, granted by the State of Pennsylvania to Major George Tudor, for services in the revolutionary war, and dated the 5th day of October, 1787. On the back of the patent is a transfer of same by Major Tudor to Walter Stewart, dated the 14th day of February, 1792, and both recorded in the Recorder's office, in Allegheny county, in Deed Book F, page 129, &c. The whole package was directed to Lewis Clapier, Esq., Philadelphia, and the Post Office in Saegerstown on the day first above mentioned, charged the Philadelphia Post Office with the postage thereof, amounting to one dollar twelve and a half cents. This package must have been detained, and most probably purloined, in some intermediate Post Office, and whoever has done it, has not had the honesty to forward it to its place of destination. As the patent can be of use whatever to the person into whose hands it may have fallen, but is of consequence to myself, I will give a generous reward to any one will deliver it to me, or forward it to the Post Office in Saegerstown, Crawford county, Pennsylvania, or to Lewis Clapier, Esq., in Philadelphia.

DOCTOR J. B. ROSE,
DENTIST,
(LATE OF REGENT STREET, LONDON,)

RESPECTFULLY informs the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he has taken an office, No. 80 Third street, next door to Dr. Burrell, where he performs all operations on the Teeth and Gums, in a style not to be surpassed.

☞ Natural and Artificial Teeth set in the best manner, and at the most reasonable charges.—Also—Porcelain Teeth, from a single one to a whole set.

On the first appearance of Tarter or Scurvy, Teeth should always be cleansed, as the corrosion of the tarter will, in a short time, reach the roots of the Teeth, and they will eventually fall out—when, by attending to them in season, they might be restored, at a trifling expense, to their original beauty.

The operation of Plugging and Filing the Teeth, when decayed, is so truly important that it is impossible to recommend it too earnestly to the attention of the public. Thousands of the most useful Teeth, which otherwise, on account of their painfulness, would be sacrificed by extraction, may thus be preserved for many years. Doctor R., convinced that he can render benefits beyond all price to those who need his assistance, will wait upon families at their residence, if requested, and Teeth brought to a Pearl White at one sitting.

☞ As Dr. R. intends to remain in town but a short time, as early a call as convenient is advisable.

Dr. R. has for sale the British Antiseptic Dentrifice. This elegant Tooth Wash, with a very little use, eradicates the Scurvy in Gums, and prevents the accumulation of Tarter, which not only blackens, but loosens the Teeth, and accelerates their decay; removes the causes of offensive breath, preserves the healthiness of the Gums, and renders the Teeth beautifully white. Price 50 cents per Bottle.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
